

Lanceleaf Tickseed

Coreopsis lanceolata

This member of the Aster family is a reliable bloomer in early to mid-spring. Growing in small clumps it can form colonies. Flower heads are yellow, 1-1 1/2 inches across. The yellow center or disk flowers stand out distinctly from the ray flowers, which appear to be attached just below them. A great cut flower for a vase, frequent deadheading will keep it in bloom longer. Great pollinator plant.

- Perennial - Grows 1-2 feet - Found in open woods, fields, roadsides

Jan	Feb	Mar	Apr	May	June	July	Aug	Sept	Oct	Nov	Dec
-----	-----	-----	-----	-----	------	------	-----	------	-----	-----	-----

Flowering Time